

WordPress handoff

matchaxmoxie

This page is for the person who will update the live WordPress site after the builder leaves.

What handoff means

Handoff means you can sign in, change a page, and update it without the builder sitting there.

Steps

1. Sign in to the dashboard with the account that owns the site. On many sites the dashboard address ends in /wp-admin. If the site is on WordPress.com, sign in at wordpress.com.
2. In the dashboard, open Pages. That list is where the pages live.
3. Open the page and click Edit. That opens the block editor.
4. Click a text block and type.
5. Click a picture. On the block toolbar, click Replace. Upload a file, or pick one from the Media Library.
6. If the page is already live, click Update. If it is still a draft, click Publish.

Button names move a little between editor versions. If a label is not on your screen, stay in the same places: the page list, the text, the picture, and the button that saves or publishes.

Write this down

- Who owns the WordPress login, and whether it is the site dashboard or WordPress.com.
- The live site address.
- Who to ask if you cannot find the dashboard.
- Do not write the password on this page.

Video

[video proof: screen recording of these steps]

Same steps as the handoff page. No password belongs on this page.